Conditions of Admission.

Students entering either of the Preparatory Courses will be examined in English Grammar and Analysis, Geography, United States History, Civil Government, Higher Arithmetic, Elementary Algebra, and ~~Harkness' First Latin Book~~. A class will be formed commencing in the latter at the beginning of the Third Term of each year.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class, in addition to the foregoing, will be examined in the studies of the Preparatory Courses, which in the Classical includes three books of Cæsar, four orations of Cicero, and four books of Virgil; and in Greek, three books each of Xenophon's Anabasis and Homer's Iliad. In Greek Grammar special attention is given to accent and euphony.

James's First Lessons in Latin

English and Normal Course.

This course is intended more especially for those who wish to prepare for teaching in the public schools, and will include instruction in the common English branches, and the best methods of organizing schools and classes, and imparting instruction. As classes will be organized in this department each term, students can enter the course at any time and assume the standing for which they are qualified.

Those who shall pass a satisfactory examination in the following studies, having been at least two terms in this institution, will be entitled to Diplomas indicating the completion of the course and literary fitness for teaching:

JUNIOR CLASS.

Reading.	Intellectual Arithmetic,
Orthography,	Practical Arithmetic,
Penmanship,	Higher Arithmetic,
Geography,	Elementary Algebra,
English Grammar and Analysis.

SENIOR CLASS.

United States History,	Elementary Philosophy,
Composition and Rhetoric,	Physical Geography,
Physiology and Hygiene,	Civil Government.

Commercial Course.

This course includes the common English branches, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Book-Keeping by Single and Double Entry, Political Economy, Commercial Law, and the business education ordinarily secured at Commercial Colleges. The time required for the completion of this course will depend upon attainments previously acquired, and all who pass a good examination in the studies required will be entitled to Diplomas.

General Information.

LOCATION.

Rio Grande College is located at RIO GRANDE, GALLIA COUNTY, OHIO, on the stage line between Oak Hill and Gallipolis, the former on the Portsmouth branch of the Marietta and Cincinnati R. R., and the latter on the Ohio River.

The College is situated in a quiet healthy locality of much natural beauty. There are no saloons in the vicinity, and the officers of the College endeavor to encourage and support sound moral and religious influences.

BUILDINGS.

The College occupies two beautiful and commodious buildings. They are of brick, three stories high above the basement, of modern architecture, and well adapted for the purpose designed. College Hall has fourteen large rooms for Recitation, Library and Society Halls, and contains the Chapel. This building is surmounted by a dome which contains a fine bell, and a large four dial tower clock. The second building contains the rooms of the Preceptress, a Parlor, the Kitchen and Dining Hall for the Steward's use, and study and sleeping rooms for students. A plank walk extends from the Boarding Hall to College Hall. The latter is warmed throughout by two large furnaces in the basement.

Each room for student's use has a grate, and is furnished with coal-box and shovel, a bedstead, two chairs, and a table. Each floor has a water reservoir, and is connected with the coal room of the basement by an elevator. The general conveniences of this building and its admirable adaptation to the requirements of a student's dormitory are unrivalled. To students who board in the College Dining Hall there is no charge for room rent. Students furnish their own beds and bedding, but these may be rented extra provided application be previously made.

The Buildings and grounds, worth ~~more than~~ forty thousand dollars, have been donated, free of all incumbrance, by Mrs. Permelia Wood, in accordance with the wishes of her former husband, the late Deacon N. Atwood. Funds have been supplied from the same source, and from other friends of the College, to furnish the buildings, and meet the running expenses. Copy to name.

LIBRARY AND READING ROOM.

A Library has been commenced, composed mostly of public documents procured by Hon. J. L. Vance and Hon. H. S. Neal. A special effort is now being made by the Secretary of the Trustees to enlarge the library, and an appeal is hereby made to the friends of the College to aid in supplying its pressing need in this direction.

A Reading Room has been established, to which several religious and secular papers are generously donated, and others are provided by subscription.

The Trustees sincerely believe that, when the thoroughness of its instruction, the critical character of its class-work, and the high grade of its text books, are considered, Rio Grande College may claim a standing among the best educational institutions, and they confidently assert that the advantages here offered are provided at less expense to the student than by any other school of like grade. Thoughtful young men and women are invited to consider these statements when deciding whether or not it is possible to attend school.

The first term of the College was opened September 13, 1876. Owing to the short time it has been in operation its highest class at present is the Sophomore Class of the Scientific Course, but students are afforded the privilege of pursuing the studies of the entire College Courses as before indicated.

Graduates from the Classical Course will receive the degree of A. B., from the Scientific Course the degree of B. S.

Rhetorical exercises are required from all the students, but special instruction and assistance are given to those who have not previously been accustomed to such exercises.

Two Literary Societies have been organized by the students, viz: The Shakespearean Literary Society by the gentlemen, and the Ladies' Literary Union by the ladies.

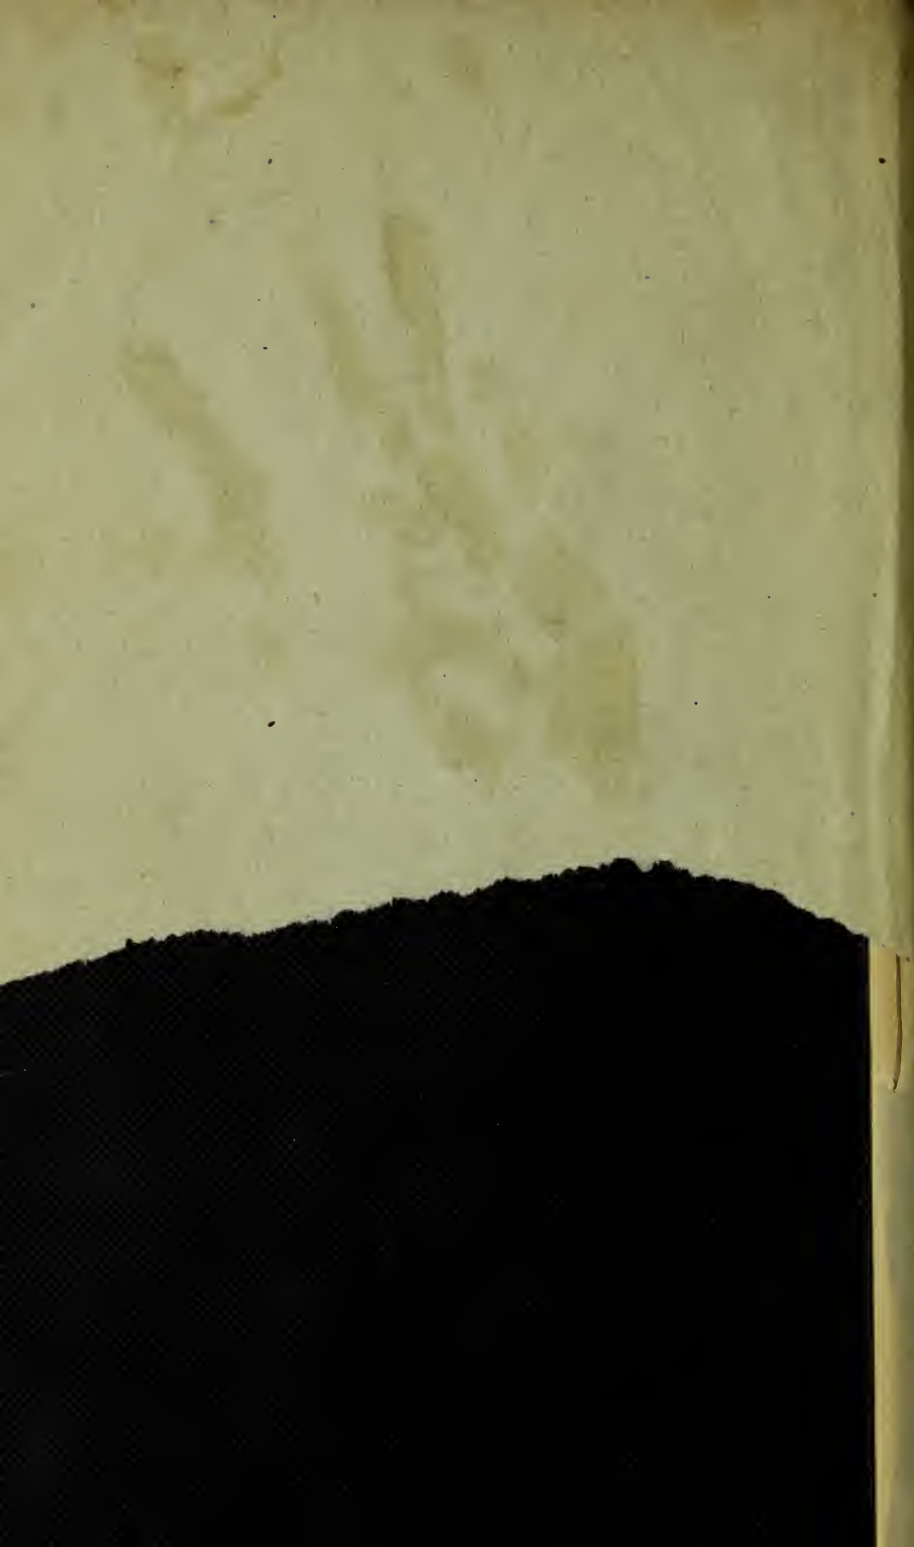

Lectures are frequently delivered to the students on educational and general topics. The lectures of the past year have been delivered by Rev. R. Dunn, D. D., Rev. James L. Phillips, D. D., N. B. Sisson, M. D., and the different members of the Faculty.

It is proposed, if there is sufficient demand for it, to have a special term of six or eight weeks during the long summer vacation; the work to be of a Normal character, the studies elective, as will best suit those in attendance. Any desirous of attending such a term will please to notify the Registrar of the College before May 1, 1879, that the necessary arrangements may be completed.

Rio Grande College has now been in successful operation for two years, and its friends confidently appeal to its past record to indicate its worthiness of public patronage. The college authorities do not depend upon sensational methods, but endeavor to do thorough honest work, the true method by which knowledge and mental growth are acquired.

Conditions of Admission.

Students entering either of the Preparatory Courses will be examined in English Grammar and Analysis, Geography, U. S. History, Civil Government, Higher Arithmetic, Elementary Algebra, and Harkness' First Latin Book. A class will be formed in the latter at the beginning of the Third Term of each year.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class, in addition to the foregoing, will be examined in the studies of the Preparatory Courses, which in the Classical includes three books of Cæsar, four orations of Cicero, and five books of Virgil; and in Greek, three books each of Xenophon's Anabasis and Homer's Iliad. In Greek Grammar special attention is paid to accent and euphony.

ENGLISH AND NORMAL COURSE.

This course is intended more especially for those who wish to prepare for teaching in the public schools, and will include instruction in the common English branches, and the best methods of organizing schools and classes, and imparting instruction.* As classes will be organized in this department each term, students can enter the course at any time and assume the standing for which they are qualified.

Those who shall pass a satisfactory examination in the following studies, having been at least two terms in this institution, will be entitled to Diplomas indicating the completion of the course and literary fitness for teaching:

Reading, Orthography, Geography, Grammar and Analysis, Intellectual, Practical and Higher Arithmetic, Elementary Algebra, U. S. History, Penmanship, Composition and Rhetoric, Elementary Philosophy, Physiology and Hygiene, Physical Geography, and Civil Government.

COMMERCIAL COURSE.

This course includes the common English branches, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Book-Keeping by Single and Double Entry, Political Economy, Commercial Law, and the business education ordinarily secured at Commercial Colleges. The time required for the completion of this course will depend upon attainments previously acquired, and all who pass a good examination in the studies required will be entitled to Diplomas.

General Information.

LOCATION.

Rio Grande College is located at RIO GRANDE, GALLIA COUNTY, OHIO, on the stage line between Oak Hill and Gallipolis, the former on the Portsmouth branch of the Marietta and Cincinnati R. R., and the latter on the Ohio River.

BUILDINGS.

The College occupies two beautiful and commodious buildings. They are of brick, three stories high above the basement, of modern architecture, and well adapted for the purpose designed. College Hall has fourteen large rooms for Recitation, Library and Society Halls, and contains the Chapel. This building is surmounted by a dome which contains a fine bell, and a large four dial tower clock. The second building contains the rooms of the Preceptress, a Parlor, the Kitchen and Dining Hall, and Study and Sleeping Rooms for Students.

Each room for student's use has a grate, and is furnished with coal-box and shovel, a bedstead, two chairs, and a table. Each floor has a water reservoir, and is connected with the coal room of the basement by an elevator. The general conveniences of this building and its admirable adaptation to the requirements of a student's dormitory are unrivalled. The rent is from 25 cents to 35 cents per week for each student. Students furnish their own beds and bedding, but these may be rented extra provided application be previously made.

EXPENSES.

Tuition, Common English Branches,	$5 per Term, or $17 per year.
Tuition, Higher Branches,	6 " " " 20 " "
Incidental Fee,	2 " "

EXTRA CHARGES AS FOLLOWS:

Instrumental Music, per term of 20 lessons,	$10 00
Use of Musical Instrument, per term,	2 00
Pennmanship, Book-Keeping, and Vocal Music, per term of 20 lessons,	1 00

All dues payable at least a half term in advance.

Board can be procured from $2 00 per week upwards.

The first term of the College was opened September 13, 1876. Owing to the short time it has been in operation its highest class at present is the Freshman Class of the Scientific Course, but students are afforded the privilege of pursuing the studies of the entire College Courses as before indicated.

Graduates from the Classical Course will receive the degree of A. B., from the Scientific Course the degree of B. S.

Rhetorical exercises are required from all the students, but special instruction and assistance is given to those who have not previously been accustomed to such exercises.

Two Literary Societies have been organized by the students, viz: The Shakespearean Literary Society by the gentlemen, and the Ladies' Literary Union by the ladies.

Lectures are frequently delivered to the students on educational topics. The lectures of the past year have been delivered by Rev. R. Dunn, D. D., Hon. J. L. Vance, and Professor R. D. Jacobs, M. D.

A library has been commenced, chiefly by donations from Hon. J. L. Vance of Gallipolis, O. It is hoped other friends of the College will have an interest in increasing it.

Rio Grande College is situated in a quiet healthy locality of much natural beauty. There are no saloons in the vicinity, and the officers of the College endeavor to encourage and support sound moral and religious influences without sectarianism.

The college authorities do not depend upon sensational methods, but endeavor to do thorough honest work, the true method by which knowledge and mental growth are acquired, and the success of the institution during the past year indicates that the public is recognizing it as worthy of patronage.

For Catalogues or other information apply to members of the Faculty, or Rev I. Z. Haning, Rio Grande, Gallia Co., O.
